

THE ECONOMIC AND THE POLITICAL

LOCATING THE GREEK CRISIS WITHIN HISTORY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

Participants:

Prof. Michael Herzfeld – Harvard University

Living in the Kaleidoscope: The Greek Crisis and the Problem of Areal Focus

Prof. Elizabeth Davis – Princeton University

“A Conscious Political Act”: Crisis and the Suicide “Epidemic” in Greece

Dr. Dimitrios Theodossopoulos – University of Kent & Prof. Alexandra Georgakopoulou Nunes – Kings College, London.

How to study the crisis anthropologically: theoretical and methodological puzzles

Prof. Thanos Veremis – University of Athens

The Economics of Andreas Papandreou. The Preamble of a Future Fiscal Crisis in Greece.

Prof. David Sutton – Southern Illinois University

The Concealed and the Revealed: Buried Treasures as Sense of Place in Neoliberal Greece.

Prof. Maria Couroucli – CNRS

The Greek self and the european other: from europhobic to xenophobic discourse

Prof. Dimitris Papanikolaou – Oxford University

There is something about the Family: national allegory, desire and kinship in a time of crisis

Dr. Theodora Vetta, Dr. Olga Lafazani, Dr. Jaime Palomera, Mr. Stamatis Amarianakis – University of Barcelona.

Grassroots Economics: Meaning, project and practice in the pursuit of livelihood (GRECO)

Dr. Nicolas Argenti – Brunel University

Here end the works of the sea: boats, time and the navigation of catastrophe in the Aegean

Dr. Aimee Placas – CYA

Tracing history and exceptionality in Greece’s first individual bankruptcy law.

Dr. Daniel Knight – Durham University

Fossilised Futures: topologies and topographies of crisis experience in central Greece

Dr. Elisabeth Kirtsoglou – Durham University.

The Greek Crisis and the Fragility of the Social Contract

Discussant: Prof. Jane Cowan – University of Sussex

DURHAM UNIVERSITY

ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENT

19 – 22 DECEMBER 2014

Contact

Dr. Elisabeth Kirtsoglou

elisabeth.kirtsoglou@durham.ac.uk

Dr. Daniel Knight

daniel.knight@durham.ac.uk